

SIR WILLIAM MULOCK OPENS REUNION

TO THE CITIZENS OF NEWMARKET

The only way we can make the Old Boys' Reunion a success is to patronize the entertainment at the fair grounds, as often as possible.

Come and bring your friends. The committee has provided a real show of clean sport and amusement each afternoon and evening beginning Thursday night.

The price is low and the fun is plenty. Come and let us all enjoy ourselves with our visiting friends "the Old Boys and Girls."

S. J. BOYD, M.D., Mayor

Citizens' Band Takes Gold Medals, Bugle Band Silver

NEWMARKET WINS MANY HONORS AT WATERLOO FESTIVAL

Newmarket's two bands covered themselves with glory at the Waterloo music festival on Saturday.

The Citizens' Band scored 88 points in class 3, for brass bands, taking a trophy, and gold medals for each of the 26 players.

The band is headed by Leslie Rowland, president, and Kenneth Bennington, secretary, and is instructed by Robert Moore, bandmaster.

The band will be buying new instruments shortly, according to the jubilant J. O. Little, who is one of the band's chief friends and admirers.

Mr. Little was the leading spirit in arrangements to see that both Newmarket bands got to Waterloo. The town council voted $50 at Mr. Little's request.

The R. S. A. Bugle Band did almost equally well. The band as such did not get a first, but individual members did.

Frank Burling was first out of 11 buglers, winning the gold medal, and James Bradford, the band's instructor, was second, winning the silver medal.

Only R. S. A. drummers entered the drumming competition. James Bradford, Jr., was first and gold medalist. Donald Blair was second and silver medalist. Herbert Foster won the bronze medal. He was closely followed by Jack Wright and Melbourne (Buster) Haines.

The R. S. A. Bugle Band was entered in both Class A (harmony) and Class B (straight). Seven bands competed in the first class and four bands competed in the second. Second Divisional Canadian Corps Signals won both events. In Class A Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders, Hamilton, were second, and R. S. A. was third with 93 points. The first two bands had 95 and 94 points respectively. In Class B the winners had 94 points and R. S. A. was second with 92 points.

In the drill contest St. Mary's Boys' Bugle Band was first with 90 points and R. S. A. was second with 89.

Fifty-three members of the band made the trip.

Prof. C. F. Thiele was in charge of the program as bandmaster of the Waterloo Musical Society. Sixty-six bands completed.

PASS MUSIC EXAMS

At the examinations held recently by the Toronto Conservatory of Music, the following pupils of Miss A. M. Colville were successful: Miss Audrey Hunt passed Grade II theory with honors; Miss Gladys Harper passed Grade III history with honors (Feb.) and Grade III harmony.

ARRANGED REUNION

NICHOLAS HUDYMA DIES IN 54TH YEAR

The death occurred suddenly in Vanderford on Tuesday of Nicholas Hudyma, aged 53. Born in Poland, Mr. Hudyma came to Canada some 20 years ago, moving to Vanderford four years ago. He had worked in Toronto previously to coming here.

He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Fanny. The funeral service was conducted in Wesley church, Vanderford, Thursday afternoon of this week. Interment was made in Aurora cemetery.

TOWN'S FIRST MAYOR HAD 6 WEEKS SCHOOL

BUSINESS GENIUS WAS WILLIAM CANE, FOUNDER OF FACTORY

CREEK WAS RIVER THEN

Days when the York forests were being cleared for farming and the timber was brought to Newmarket to be turned into doors, sashes, wheelbarrows, and woodenware of all kinds, were recalled for The Era last week by Eugene Cane, Prospect St., one of Newmarket's senior citizens, who will be attending the reunion.

William Cane, Newmarket's first mayor, had a career as brilliant as that of Dick Whittington, who became mayor of London.

"My father, William Cane, moved here from East Gwillimbury when I was 14," said Mr. Cane, when asked with questions.

"William Cane was born in the United States and came with his parents to Mariposa township," said Mr. Cane. "His parents died in Mariposa and he came to Newmarket to live. He boarded on Yonge St., chopping hardwood to pay his board while he went to school. But six weeks school was all that he had in his entire life."

"He started making wooden pumps. He turned to making wood-work for wagons. There was no money in circulation. It was all trade. He would give the blacksmith the wood for one

Accident Made Him Member For North York, Says Old Boy

CHILDHOOD DAYS IN VILLAGE RECALLED BY SIR WILLIAM

OPENS REUNION TONIGHT

By ANDREW HEBB

This evening, as Newmarket's most distinguished "old boy," Sir William Mulock, chancellor of the University of Toronto, former chief justice of Ontario, and at one time postmaster-general of Canada, will open the long-planned and long-anticipated old boys' reunion.

On the eve of this great event Sir William graciously granted an interview to The Era. We made the request when Sir William honored The Era with a visit on Saturday, and he arranged that we should visit him at his magnificent home on Yonge St.

While in Newmarket Sir William discussed with Mr. A. C. West, reunion manager, plans for the four big days, and Sir William accepted Mr. West's invitation to attend the reunion both this evening and on Saturday afternoon.

As everyone knows, Sir William's home on Yonge St. is almost hidden from the highway by many beautiful trees, trees grown so high that even a towering flag staff was "out-topped."

And perhaps here is as good as any illustration of Sir William's perennial youth. The flagstaff had become rotted at the base and it had to come down. He engaged Mr. J. W. Bowser of Aurora to undertake this dangerous job. He wanted the flagstaff down, not only without injury to anyone, but without injury to the pole itself.

In illustration of Sir William's youthfulness, his interest in this engineering operation was as keen as that of any boy. Sir William is interested in everybody and everything.

"I was very much struck by the clever way in which Mr. Bowser took down the pole," recounted Sir William, going on to describe the use of pulleys and guys and the successful conclusion of the operation.

Sir William was interested both in the operation and in the man responsible. "I was very much impressed by Mr. Bowser," he said of the man who superintended construction of the Empire State Building, New York. "He is a very fine man."

The flagstaff is down temporarily, but the trees still remain. "There wasn't a tree here 50 years ago," Sir William said. "This was just a ploughed field."

Liquor Board Refuses Beer To King George For Reunion

ARLEIGH ARMSTRONG SAYS ILLEGAL LIQUOR SALES INCREASE

Arnold N. Smith, deputy chief commissioner of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario, has refused a request from the King George hotel for a two-day special license to sell beer during the reunion.

Arleigh Armstrong, solicitor, wrote the board in part: "In anticipating the demand for beer it is generally felt that the convenience and safety of the public can well be served by provision for the retail sale of beer in Newmarket. It is the opinion of many responsible citizens here who take a realistic view of conditions surrounding the sale of beer (illicit), that these conditions will be aggravated to an intolerable degree. I refer, of course, to the objectionable practices of sale to minors, both boys and girls, sales of excessive quantities and selling after hours and on the Sabbath. It would also appear that an increasing amount of whiskey, much of it not only illicit but even dangerous, is being offered and sold for local consumption."

Mr. Smith replied: "As you know, Newmarket is under local option, and the board are not permitted to issue any authority for the sale of beer in a local option territory, and it is the duty of the municipal and provincial police to see that no beer is sold illegally, and the board have no jurisdiction in that regard, it being purely a police matter."

REDMEN DEFEAT MOUNT ALBERT SOFTBALLERS IN STIFF EXHIBITION BATTLE, SCORE IS 6 - 2

Newmarket Redmen, playing against Mount Albert on the latter's home diamond, emerged victorious, after a hard-fought game, with a 6-2 score, in an exhibition softball game on Monday evening.

In the first inning Hilton for Newmarket was the first man to take his stand against Mitchell for Mount Albert. Hilton whiffed, as did Neufeld. Cunningham hit a long drive to deep centre, which resulted in a homer, and Cain grounded out on first.

Draper was the first Mount Albert man to face Niles and received free admission to first on a walk. Mitchell grounded out and K. Case followed with a nice double, scoring Draper to tie the game. Watts grounded out to Niles as did Green, who followed. Gibney scored the only run for Newmarket in the second, reaching first on an error by M. Case, and advancing on Peters' long fly to centre field. Luck, VanZant and Niles were put out in that order.

In the second half, Pegg was struck out by Niles. M. Case reached first on an error and J. Case and Stewart were thrown out in short order to retire the side.

The third and fourth were short lived, as both sides were retired one, two, three, respectively.

In the fifth inning VanZant was the first batsman, grounding out at first, Niles followed in the same line, Hilton singled and Neufeld popped out to Watts. Stewart singled, Draper was safe on a fielder's choice and Mitchell singled, scoring Stewart for Mount Albert's second and last run. Case, Watts and Green were put out at the initial sack.

The sixth inning produced two more runs for the Newmarketers. Cunningham popped out to Watts, Cain took a pass to first, Gibney singled, Peters hit a long fly to Stewart but advanced the runners. Trivett, replacing Luck on second, singled, scoring Cain and Gibney. Welsh, taking over the catching duties, also singled, but Glover, relief pitcher, was struck out, retiring the side.

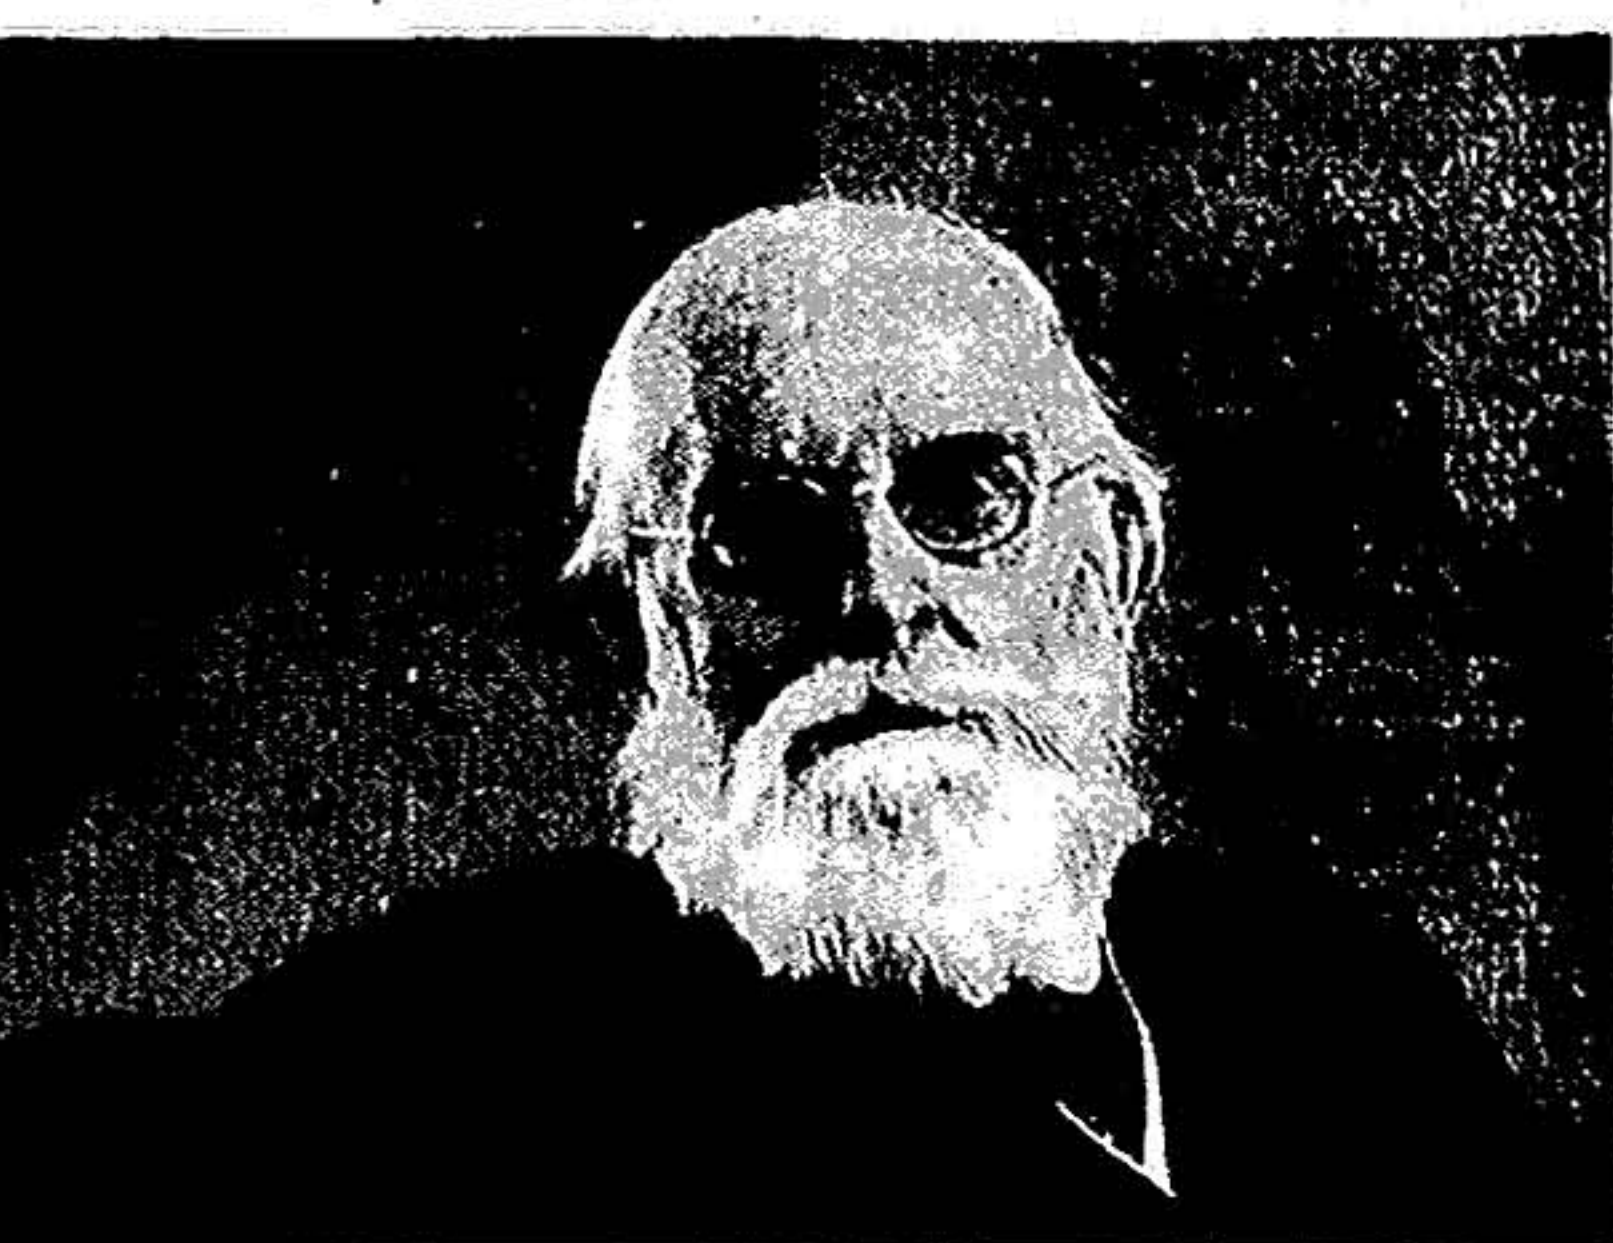

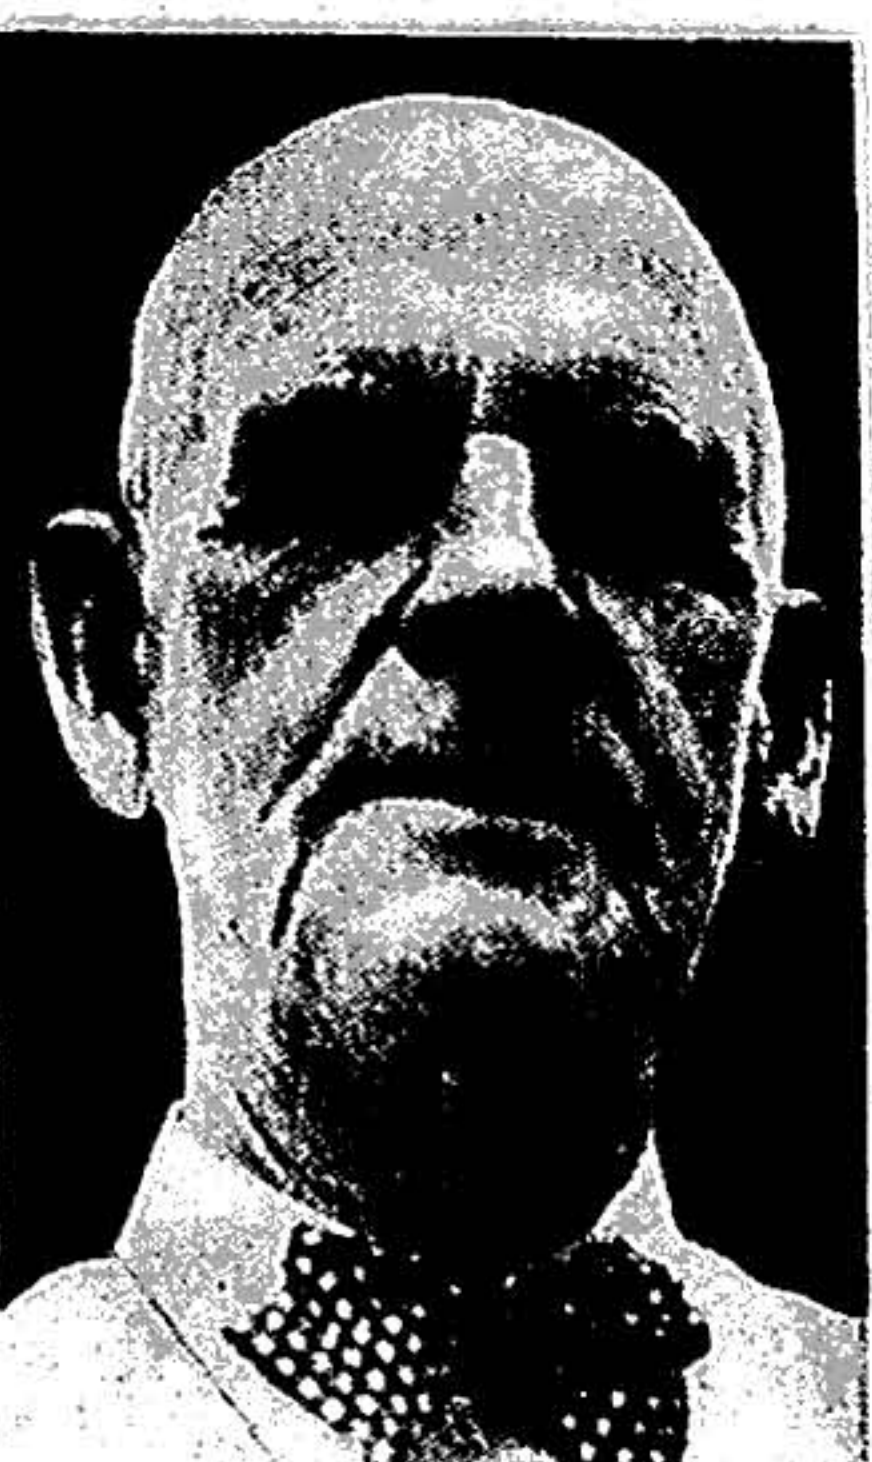

Pegg was struck out, M. Case walked, J. Case struck out, as did Stewart.

In the seventh inning both sides were retired in short order, only one man reaching first on either side. M. Case receiving a walk for Mount Albert.

Cain was the first man to bat in the eighth, receiving a pass, Gibney struck out, Peters hit a liner to right field for a homer, scoring Cain ahead of him. Trivett singled, but Welsh and Glover whiffed, retiring the side.

Green struck out for Mount Albert, Pegg reached first on an error, M. Case walked as did his brother, J. Case. Stewart fanned as did Draper, ending the game. Mount Albert—P. Mitchell; C. Draper; 1st, J. Case; 2nd, Watts; 3rd, M. Case; 4th, K. Case; 5th, Green; 6th, Stewart; 7th, Pegg. Newmarket—P. Niles; Glover; C. VanZant; Welsh; 1st, Peters; 2nd, Luck; Trivett; 3rd, Neufeld; 4th, Hilton; 5th, Cunningham; 6th, Cain; 7th, Gibney.

YOU'LL MEET THEM AROUND TOWN DURING REUNION

Here is a group of Newmarket "old boys" who have not wandered far from home. Top left is George Muir, son of Alexander Muir, composer of "The Maple Leaf Forever." Mr. Muir was born in January, 1859. Next is Dr. J. H. Wesley, Newmarket's M. O. H., one of the town's best known and most successful "old boys." Top right is Eugene Cane, son of William Cane, the town's first mayor. Mr. Cane is interviewed in this issue. Bottom left is T. C. Watson, optometrist, who verifies George D. Johnson's statement about his father, Jacob Johnson, standing on the cross-arms of the Christian church, which he built. Mr. Watson remembers his own father, A. R. Watson, climbing the steeple with a compass to set the cross-arms correctly. Bottom right is Sir William Mulock, photographed on the verandah of his summer home, Yonge St., on Sunday after he had returned from a church parade in Aurora. In 1859, the year Mr. Muir, an octogenarian, was born, Sir William was entering university. All photos by The Era.

STILL WAITING FOR CLOCK FOR CHURCH TOWER, SAYS CITIZEN

Additional information about the clock to be put in the Christian church tower is given by C. K. Morrison, 14 Strigley St. Mr. Morrison was quite interested in the interview last week with Fred Hartley, D'Arcy St.

"The council of the village (as Newmarket then was) agreed to furnish a clock to be set in the tower of the Christian church if it was built to accommodate one, but the money has never been voted," Mr. Morrison told The Era.

"Therefore the openings have always remained boarded up, and the church is still waiting for the clock," said Mr. Morrison.

Mr. Morrison, who is one of Newmarket's oldest residents, is in his 85th year. He was born on the second concession of East Gwillimbury, a mile and a quarter north of Newmarket, on Oct. 29, 1854. He is a son of the late B. F. Morrison and Amelia Kinsey, who was an adopted daughter of the late T. B. Wakefield.

The farm where Mr. Morrison was born was later sold to Daniel Kelly, father of the late Frank Kelly, and the Morrison family moved to the property on the northwest corner of the town line and third concession, (Queen St.). This property was purchased by Mr. Wakefield and decided to his adopted daughter, Mrs. Morrison.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Morrison later moved to California and the farm was operated by C. K. Morrison and his wife, who was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Turner of Maryborough township, county of Wellington.

In 1902 Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Morrison moved to Newmarket, where they still reside, and the farm was sold. Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Morrison purchased a home in San Francisco, but it was destroyed in the great earthquake disaster.

When interviewed, Mr. Morrison was able to recall the McMaster store which stood at the south end of Main St. He also was present at the laying of the cornerstone of the Christian church, and drew the overgrown for the erection of the arch in front of the church.

He still possesses some books which his mother used when

WELCOMES VISITORS

Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd has been a whole-hearted supporter of the reunion since plans began to be made two years ago. Dr. Boyd is president of the reunion committee.

MISS SCOTT RESIGNS

Miss A. B. Scott, who has taught 19 years in King George public school, has resigned. Members of the staff and the public school board presented her with a radio as a mark of appreciation.

SHARON GIRLS PASS MUSIC EXAMINATIONS

Lorna Fegg, fifth grade, and Ruth Wilnot, third grade, with honors, Sharon girls, passed their Conservatory of Music examinations. They are pupils of Mrs. Howard Pegg.

She attended the old Grammar School. He also attended the same school when Mr. Mason was principal.

"Later an addition was added to the school and Mr. Alexander was engaged as assistant teacher," said Mr. Morrison. "He had previously been principal of the Common School."

Mr. Morrison, like Mr. Hartley, recalls that Alexander Muir was a great quill picker. "Once in a competition at Barrie his competitor had him disqualified for having had the weight of the quills which he used increased by a bar across them," said Mr. Morrison.

HOME AGAIN!

Welcome home! This week the Newmarket family are gathered together as they never have been before and as they will not be again probably for many years to come. Unfortunately, all who should or would like to be here cannot be, but many of them are at least with us in their thoughts. We think of old-time Newmarket people, perhaps resident in the west or in the United States, whose early memories have been stirred up by this reunion, but whose health or whose wealth does not permit them to return home for these four days of celebration.

Wanderers

A home-coming like this makes one reflect on the queer tricks played by geography. The Peace River country beckons to a Newmarket man, and he leaves his own people and journeys over 2,000 miles and settles down there beyond the visible radius of his own kin. Except for an occasional letter, he is as far removed from his own people as though he were in the land of the dead. Why do people do it? Why do brothers and sisters not settle down together and build their homes side by side? Why do distant fields look so green?

A Diminishing World

We do not propose to give the answer except to say that life is like that. Life has always been like that, and until recent years it looked as though it always would be like that. But what's happening now? First there were the steam locomotives and the steamship, and then the automobile and the aeroplane, telegraph, telephone and radio, and soon television, all bringing the wanderers closer together again. One hundred years ago, when the first steam locomotives and steamships were in the "impossible" period, a family left home in England, Scotland or Ireland for a home in Upper Canada amid the tears of relatives who knew that they would never see them again. Even to exchange letters would take at least three months.

Stratosphere Planes Perhaps

But now there is no reason to cry if our brothers and sisters go to the ends of the earth, for they are within sound of our voices by telephone, within reach by aeroplane in a few hours, and they go to the same movies, hear the same radio programs, and some of them may help to develop even more rapid means of communication than we have now. For Newmarket's next reunion perhaps the fair grounds will be used as a landing-field for the visitors' stratosphere planes.

MORE CONSERVATION SURVEYS

What is being done about King township conservation? Are our governments interested in the subject? The answer seems to be that the governments, reflecting public opinion, are mildly interested. The provincial department of lands and forests has authorized surveys of two watersheds in Durham county. The purpose is to secure information about the use of marginal lands (those which give doubtful returns for time and labor spent on them [a definition which would seem to include some mighty fine farms]); erosion by wind and water; use of wood by individuals and commercial dealers, and the possibility of retaining moisture by proper soil cover and small retaining dams in ravines.

Governments Don't Rush

Our thought is why should we spend more money on surveys, when we haven't acted on the information already gathered and published in the Davis-Mayall report on King township. But we see the point made by an editor-conservationist, Hugh Templin, Fergus News-Record, who comments: "A similar study, financed by one individual, was made recently in King township, York county. The report issued on that occasion seems valuable, but it is obviously necessary to make similar studies in several parts of the province. It is possible that important and valuable advantages can be secured at little outlay as a result of these studies."

FORTUNATE MR. MCKENZIE

It is no easy matter these days getting a position as a teacher. Teachers may be in many instances poorly remunerated but there is still a great demand for the jobs available. The Fergus News-Record notes that the Fergus public school board had appointed a Mr. McKenzie of Honeywood to its staff, and that he subsequently asked to be released as he had been offered the principalship of Acton public school. The Acton Free Press tells that there were three vacancies in Acton. There were 300 applications for the principal's position, and 400 applications for the other two positions. A considerable number of the 700 applicants interviewed the members of the board personally. Two Acton girls, with several years successful teaching experience, received the lower grade appointments, and Mr. G. W. McKenzie of Honeywood, and Fergus, was appointed principal.

Snappy Work

We read that "the 300 applications for the principalship were first considered. Salary, qualifications and impressions gathered during the personal interviews were all carefully considered by the board. Salaries asked ranged from $900 to $2,000 per year." Mr. McKenzie was appointed at $1,100 a year.

Then They Went Home

One would think that the sorting out of 700 applications would be a heavy evening's work, but we find that this industrious board not only made its three appointments, but drew up its estimates for the year, and "in spite of the heavy docket, the board adjourned about ten o'clock."

WE QUOTE EVIDENCE

On several occasions we have said that larger Ontario weeklies are moving toward the business-like practice of requiring subscriptions to be paid in advance. The Era is still Ontario's only strictly paid-in-advance town or rural weekly, but there will soon be quite a crop of others, we believe. As evidence of the trend we quote the following from the Canadian Statesman, Bowmanville, one of the best known and one of the best weekly newspapers in the Dominion: "The generous response of Statesman subscribers in sending in their renewals in advance for 1939 has made it possible for us to make application for an audited circulation commencing July 1. This is a wonderful accomplishment which we hardly thought possible six months ago when we started our campaign of paid-in-advance subscriptions. We greatly appreciate this whole-hearted co-operation on the part of our readers, who have so willingly responded to our appeal. Never in the history of this paper have so many renewed their subscriptions so promptly. Of course, there are a few yet we have not heard from, but we feel sure they will send in their renewals before July 1, as that is the date the auditors from Chicago are scheduled to arrive in town to check over our subscription lists."

"Look at your yellow mailing label now and see if the date is correct, as our mailing lists have been changed for all subscriptions received up to June 17."

ANNUAL SCHOOL EXHIBITION

No matter how often you have been there before, it is always an inspiration to attend the annual exhibition of handicrafts of Newmarket public schools. Everywhere you hear people exclaiming: "Isn't that wonderful!" "How do they do it?" and "We couldn't do things like that when we were in school." The exhibition on Friday evening was superior to the exhibition of the previous year. And others said it was much superior to the exhibitions of two, three and four years ago. Mr. Jackson and Mr. Forbes, the manual training teachers, Miss Denne and Miss Hambley, the household science teachers, and Miss Staunton, the art teacher, are to be congratulated.

Wanted in High School

Two or three high school boys who were present expressed the wish that similar opportunities were offered in high school. It made us think that surely now is the time to begin an informational campaign for the teaching of shopwork and household economics in our high school. We, in Newmarket, usually in the vanguard of progress must not allow ourselves to fall behind. It is true that there are many property-owners who have no direct interest in the high school and are not going out of their way to vote for an addition, however slight, to the tax-rate. It is up to those of us who see advantages in the revised high school curriculum to point out that it would cost Newmarket less than half a mill on the tax rate for 12 to 15 years to erect the necessary wing to the high school and to equip it properly.

Education As A Way Out

There are many of us who urge provincial and federal governments to spend money to alleviate unemployment. We know that there is more waste when federal and provincial governments spend money than when municipalities spend it, for municipalities spend their money under the direct supervision of those who have paid it into the treasury. It would therefore seem logical for us to support a proposal for spending a minimum amount of money to fit our young people better for the difficult world before them. Spending money on education is just as likely to contribute to the solution of present-day economic problems as spending money on public works.

The Common Round

REFUGEES

By Isabel Inglis Colville

I was listening the other day to a Baptist minister telling of the work being done for the Jewish refugees from Germany, Austria and Czechoslovakia.

His own work was among Jewish Christians, who, he said, were in some respects the hardest hit, for they came in for no share in the splendid work being done for the persecuted Jews by British and American Jews. He said he would not—could not—assail the ears of his listeners with some—many—of the tales which came before them or which they saw proof of in their work of rescuing as many as possible from the concentration camps. When he wasn't at work in one of the anti-Jewish countries, went on this worker, he sat in his London office from nine a.m. to seven p.m., and listened to unbelievable horrible tales of ill-treatment, which, he said, would touch a heart of stone, and which left him, often, unable to sleep or eat when he reached his home.

The lot of old people was particularly lamentable. Thrust from their homes, deprived of their possessions and often deprived also of those who normally would have cared for them, they were left to starve and suffer, unless some of the organizations at work could rescue them. At present, those interested in the work are trying to establish a home in Switzerland where these aged, homeless and hopeless men and women may live out their remaining years in the peacefulness to which age is entitled.

As he talked, I looked about me—our little family was together, our surroundings were the familiar ones of a well-loved home—the comfortable chairs, the books like old friends, the piano and violins, asleep at the moment, but ready to wake at a touch and speak to us—how far removed it all seemed from the tale of suffering and sacrifice to which we listened. And yet, many of those whose stories were so terrible they could only be hinted at, had lived in homes like ours and cherished their belongings and dreamed their dreams, and loved and were loved.

All this, and yet out of a clear sky came the calamity. One day they were citizens of a country; they were doctors, nurses, artists, students and work folk, living normally and doing that work to the best of their ability—which often was very great—and the next day—very early in the morning—the wandering Jews of the old legend.

My own ancestors were Huguenots and fled from France to establish themselves as linen weavers in Scotland, and I suppose, even after four hundred years, a fellow feeling for refugees permeates the blood of their descendants. But I'm afraid, until I listened to this worker among a persecuted people, I had only said "What a pity," and maybe lay awake a few hours wondering—wondering what it would be like to be unwanted, tortured, and with no hope.

Churches, synagogues and individuals are working—often under difficulties—to relieve the almost intolerable state of affairs, but as this minister said—at best the work is so slow—so much red tape to be untied before a step can be made, that to those depending on help from these organizations it must seem a small eternity.

He spoke of the great work being done—the called it heroic—by the Society of Friends—and as I listened I wondered what we people—so safe and comfortable by comparison—could do. We can all give a little of what we have, we can pray—and "more things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of," and we perhaps may come in contact with some of these refugees.

Then surely we can show them that Canada is a land of homes, and that the people in those homes are a friendly people—a people anxious to help the new Canadians blot out the evil memories and over the clean sheet place new and fine scenes of safe homes, a free country and a tolerance for all religious and racial differences.

WHO WILL BE AT THE REUNION?

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"Well, this is the big week for the old boys and girls," said Merry Chickadee to her mate, Young Chips. "The town certainly looks gay, with all the flags and other decorations."

"Some of the birds who live on Main St., such as the Purple Martins, will see lots of the doings, but we are rather far away from everything out here," pointed out Young Chips.

"The ones who live over on the other side of town, near the fairgrounds, will certainly see plenty, too," said Merry. "However, I expect most of them will be busy with their young families and won't have time to take in many of the festivities."

"A lot of the late-nesting birds, who didn't lay their eggs until early in June, have just newly-hatched families to look after right now," said Young Chips. "I know from the way those Kingbird neighbors of ours are acting that their eggs must have been just hatched out in the last two or three days. Mercey! If you go within 50 feet of their nest, it's just too bad for you. Talk about having a chip on your shoulder! That couple have a whole world of chips on their shoulders."

"There are lots of other birds that don't nest until the first of June or thereabouts," said Merry. "The dear little Wood Pewee that I like so much, who lives in the apple tree over there, came rushing over to tell me that her eggs were hatched out, only this morning."

and Mrs. D. L. Lepard and Miss Anna Smith attended the wedding of Miss McMahon in Richmond Hill last week. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cheekley Hayward of "Ecklinville," Harborne, London, England, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. T. F. Playter, second concession, Whitechurch. J. M. Walton and T. H. Lennox were nominated as North York's candidates at the coming election, when local option will be voted on.

DIED—At the residence of Mr. J. H. Ramaden, 6th con. of King, June 17, Marlan Ida Ramaden, in her 63rd year.

"I certainly hope her three youngsters don't fall through the bottom of their nest. I happened to discover the nest one day when I was over there and that's how I happen to know about how flimsy it is. It is a little shallow nest, built on the fork of a branch of that tree, and really, it looked so much like a part of the tree that I hardly saw it until I was right almost upon it. Otherwise, I wouldn't have gone so near, because I know any mother hates to have outsiders discover her nest."

"Well, when I looked up," Merry continued, "there was the nest, right above me, and would you believe it, I could see the eggs right through the bottom of the nest, the floor was so thin. I was certainly shocked, but I asked the Pewee about it, and she didn't seem a bit concerned. She said they built their walls thick and their floors thin. It's an odd idea, if you ask me."

"Wasn't she disturbed when she saw that you had found her nest?" asked Young Chips.

"A little bit, at first," admitted Merry. "But then she said that if someone had to discover it, she would just as soon it was a nice, friendly Chickadee as anyone."

"Lots of our other friends nest in early June, too," Young Chips said, returning to the original subject. "There are the Scarlet Tanagers, and the Rose-breasted Grosbeaks, and many of the Warblers, and the pretty Redstarts and the Indigo Buntings, that I can think of now. They certainly will be busy these days."

"Yes, we are much freer than they are, really, because our six youngsters are old enough now to be flying about a very little on their own," said Merry. "And yet, in some ways I think this is the most anxious time of all. I certainly wouldn't dream of taking a trip of any kind and leaving them alone. Something would certainly happen to them."

"I guess the only carefree birds are the really lazy ones, like the Goldfinches and the Cedar Waxwings," decided Young Chips. "They nest atrociously late. Perhaps they'll be observing the reunion from a discreet distance."

"I don't know about the Goldfinches," said Merry. "Some of my Goldfinch acquaintances nested this week. And surely even the Cedar Waxwings have done so by now, even if they do postpone it until late in June."

"Maybe so, but I've often known both of those bird families to lay their eggs as late as early July, or even later," mislaid Young Chips.

"Well, now that you mention it, I believe I did see a Goldfinch this afternoon with some building materials in its bill," said Merry. "I suppose it meant that her nest wasn't even finished yet."

Some people certainly do take their time about settling down. "The Goldfinches love to line their nests with thistle-down," said Young Chips. "They like to wait until there is plenty of that before they nest."

"That is rather in keeping with their characters," mused Merry. "They are such romantic, light-hearted, flitting creatures, and so like bright flowers."

"You are getting poetical!" laughed Young Chips. "Surely we Chickadees are gay and light-hearted, too."

"Yes, but not in the same way," said Merry. "We have a sort of commonsense cheeriness about us which is quite matter of fact, if you know what I mean. But the Goldfinches are all thistle-down and gossamer, or something."

"They are like butterflies, flitting from thistle to thistle, I'll have to admit," said Young Chips. "But we need all kinds to make a world."

CAMPING DAYS START FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

The camp for Toronto Centre North Presbytery, Y. P. U. of the United Church, at Camp Ashbury, opens today, June 29, and lasts till July 6. The camp is located at Sibbald's Point, three miles east of Jackson's Point, with the camp staff of deans, Rev. D. Woodhouse, Markham; director, Miss Vern Hunter, Lakely; business manager, Miss Hilda Patton, King; recreation, Miss Muriel Macklin, Agincourt, music, Murray Huntley, Queensville, librarians, Miss Yvonne Marquis, Uxbridge.

The camp provides a real camping experience under ideal conditions, opportunity for enriching fellowship and for worthwhile presentations of basic world problems. Bible study during the camp will be led by Rev. Terry Hunt of Canilim, using as his theme, "What is God like?" Four study groups are being held for convenors of the local unions.

Missions will be led by Rev. Hugh Shannon, Queensville, with the topic, "So this is missions," citizenship by Rev. C. E. Fockler, Keswick, taking for his subject, "Jesus' teaching for young people," fellowship by Miss Blanche Ramer, East Rural, under the heading, "Worship committee in action," girls' work by Miss Harriet Christie, Toronto, secretary of the Ontario Girls' Work board.

Ten unions have tents playing in the presbytery inter-union basketball schedule, consisting of five boys and four girls, with girl pitchers to girl batters. In the north group of Ravenshoe, Queensville, Sharon and Wesley, Wesley Y. P. U. at present is leading the group.

In the south group, consisting of Mount Pleasant, Victoria Square, Port Hope, King, Lakely and Port Hopeville, Lakely and Port Hopeville are among the winners. The annual Y. P. U. picnic will be held in August this year. Toronto conference executive leadership camp for the presby-

ACCIDENT MADE HIM MEMBER FOR NORTH YORK, SAYS SIR WILLIAM MULOCK

I planted them all." "Have you always been a planter of trees?" "I have been planting trees for 50 years," he said.

At Holland House, near Markdale, Sir William said that he had planted 90,000 trees. Six years ago, while employed with the Toronto Star, the writer, in the company of Gregory Clark, special writer, and Tom Wilson, press photographer, visited Sir William's estate in Holland township.

Mr. Justice Masten had driven up with Sir William for a day's fishing. Sir William had not only planted thousands of trees but in a little lake on his estate he had planted thousands of trout. The trees have prospered but the trout haven't.

"There is a wonderful difference in those trees now," he said. "I wish you could see them." But he was up there fishing only two weeks ago, and the results were disappointing.

While on the subject of trees, Sir William was asked whether it would pay an ordinary farmer to plant a grove of walnut trees. He was quite amused by some of the fabulous estimates put on the value of his two groves on Yonge St.

The unofficial estimators reckon on every tree at an eventual yield of 1,000 board feet, and the value of the wood at $200 a thousand.

"Then they multiply 50,000 trees by $200, and they get millions of dollars," laughed Sir William.

"They overlook the fact that only one tree in 15 or 20 becomes a really big marketable tree," he said. "Another factor is that in the last few years the United States government has had thousands of men planting trees, many of them walnut trees. These walnut trees in the United States will reach maturity before ours do, and may make a very great difference in the value of walnut."

By what right is Sir William a Newmarket old boy?

"My mother moved to Newmarket from Bond Head when I was four years old," he said. "It was the third child. I had an older brother and sister, and two younger sisters. The older brother died."

"My mother was a Newmarket woman. Her father (Cawthra) was a merchant at the northwest corner of Main and Water Sts. She returned to Newmarket when my father died."

"I did the chores about the house cheerfully and pleasantly, chopping the wood, getting the water, looking after the cow. I attended what we called the grammar school."

"My mother was passionately fond of me, for some reason," said Sir William. The mother rendered a judgment which a whole province was to give 90 years later, or perhaps it was that her love so freely bestowed became the greatness of later years.

"My mother pinched herself so that my sisters and myself might have as good an education as possible."

"I left school at 14, feeling that I might make more progress studying by myself. In 1859 (when he was 15) I went to university and graduated in arts in 1863. I then undertook the study of law in the city. My mother desired me to be a lawyer."

In due time Sir William became a lawyer and established a large practice in the city. How then did he become associated again with North York?

"It was an accident," Sir William said. "Dr. Widdifield was the local member, and he was aspiring to the federal nomination."

tery officers and local presidents is being held at Sparrow Lake from Aug. 19 to 27, with a very worthwhile program. Two members from the district presbytery executive are helping with the camp. Miss Marian Burkholder of Queensville, Toronto conference Christian culture convenor, is leading a group on "Christian Culture," and Miss Hilda Patton is librarian for the camp.

Found Two men were talking together in the public library. Said one: "The dime novel has gone. I wonder where it's gone to." The other, who knew something of literature in its various phases, answered cynically: "It's gone to two dollars and fifty cents."

tion. There were some people in the riding who felt that he should have waited his turn and given older men a chance."

Dr. Widdifield, as told by Fred Harry in last week's Era, gained the provincial nomination over Erasmus Jackson, an older man, whom many felt had a better claim. Jackson was subsequently defeated as an independent Reform candidate.

"These dissentients came to me and asked that I should be a candidate for the federal nomination," said Sir William. "I consented on the condition that I was not to be used to split the party, and that I should have complete freedom to change my decision and act as I saw fit at the convention."

"They began to put my name around the riding, and then Dr. Widdifield thought it better to bring the convention on before I had made too much progress. It was away before the election. At the convention I sensed that the convention was overwhelmingly in Dr. Widdifield's favor. I asked my supporters to permit me to withdraw, so that I might nominate Dr. Widdifield and make it unanimous. Dr. Widdifield's nominator withdrew his nomination and I nominated Dr. Widdifield."

"That winter I spent a great deal of time going around the riding with Dr. Widdifield, trying to bring the dissentients back into the fold."

"Then in the spring there was a redistribution of the riding. It was a gerrymander, a most unfair thing. Bradford and West Gwillimbury, two municipalities that returned a Conservative majority, were brought into the riding. It was felt necessary to hold another convention. Dr. Widdifield was again nominated."

"Dr. Widdifield then rose, presumably to make a speech of acceptance. What he said was that he couldn't possibly carry the new riding. What were we to do? It was then the 20th of May and the election was on June 19. They asked me if I would take the nomination. I was so indignant about the redistribution that I accepted."

Sir William was successful, and he went on from success to success.

One of Sir William's early achievements in parliament was the enactment of a law to forbid railway trains to hold up traffic at crossings more than five minutes. Interminable delays to farmers at the Huron St. crossing, Newmarket, led him to take this step.

"It is still the law," he said. Today his grandson is the member for North York, a riding which today, as the result of subsequent redistributions, stretches from Georgina and Sutton to Woodbridge, but no longer includes the municipalities of Bradford and West Gwillimbury of which Dr. Widdifield was afraid.

One more incident is told in conclusion. Sir William attended a church parade in Aurora on Sunday morning.

"I believe that we should attend church, whether we think we benefit or not, as an example," he said. "It is very important that we uphold the church, and what the church represents."

POLICE COURT

PARENTS SURPRISED TO HEAR SON IN JAIL

Convicted on a charge of illegal fishing, Lloyd Brown and Miller Wray, both of Schomberg, were each fined $10 and costs by Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe in police court here on Tuesday.

Game Warden Ernest Prosser testified that he found Brown and Wray at 2 a.m. fishing with a spear and jack-knife and using artificial lights in a stream inhabited by lunge. The spear and jack-knife were both confiscated. Mr. Prosser stated, "A second charge of having artificial lights laid against the two men was withdrawn."

A charge of having possession of a lunge laid against Gordon Roberts, Toronto, was smilingly dismissed by the magistrate.

Game Warden Prosser testified that he found Roberts with a 12-pound lunge which he had caught but that Roberts told him he thought the fish was a pike.

"It was only the second time I had ever been fishing," Roberts told the magistrate. "I caught a big fish and as it was the largest fish I had ever seen I asked everyone along the bank what kind it was and they all told me it was a pike. Some time later when the game warden came along he identified the fish as being a lunge."

Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K. C., stated that the pike and lunge found in Lake Simcoe are very similar.

Bail of $500 was renewed for Clarence Fuller, King township, who is charged with keeping liquor for sale and having illegal possession of liquor. The charges which were laid by County Constable Aubrey Fleury were adjourned one week for hearing.

On a charge of consuming liquor in an illegal place, Walter E. Davis, Newmarket, was fined $10 and costs and the liquor found was ordered confiscated.

County Constable Ronald Watt

testified that he searched Davis' car on June 25, at 12:15 a.m., and that he found three full bottles of beer, a part bottle of gin, two empty beer bottles, and several glasses. Davis and another person had been consuming liquor in the car, the constable stated.

The 17-year-old Aurora youth, who was last week remanded in custody one week for sentence was sentenced to the common jail for 20 days by Magistrate Woodliffe, who dated the sentence back to last week when the conviction was registered.

Lorne Lee, Aurora, who spoke on behalf of the youth, stated that he was only 16 years old.

"The accused told me last week that he was 17," Magistrate Woodliffe stated.

"The parents of the youth both claim they didn't know anything about this case coming up last week," Mr. Lee stated. "A younger brother, who runs the streets, also didn't know about it. Also most of the evidence given against the accused last week was given by a boy younger and of a lower mentality. The father of the accused has been promised a job for him and if a sentence is imposed he'll lose the chance of work."

"Are you asking for a new trial?" asked the magistrate.

"I would like it," answered Mr. Lee.

"I don't see how I can do that, as last week the youth told me he was 17 and that his parents knew about the case coming up," stated the magistrate, who adjourned the case until 2 p.m. for judgment.

The parents of the youth both testified that they did not know anything about the case coming up last week until Constable Dunham returned home from court and told them that their son had been sent to the Don Jail one week while awaiting sentence. The parents also stated that the boy was only 16 and would not be 17 until July 24.

"I am satisfied that the boy has had a fair trial," stated Magistrate Woodliffe. "I hoped that when you were here last time you had learned your lesson but apparently you did not. I warned you if you appeared again, it would be harder for you. You are trying to get into the reformatory and if you keep on you will go there. When you get out of jail get a job, behave yourself, and leave other people's property alone."

A charge of theft of three lawn chairs and a wicker chair laid against five Toronto youths who were captured in Newmarket early last Tuesday morning on a freight train was dismissed by the magistrate. A charge of vagrancy laid against the five was withdrawn.

J. F. Colhoun, Toronto, was defence counsel for two of them. Lindsay Obee, Aurora, testified that he heard someone come up on his verandah early Tuesday morning, later he heard someone run down the street and then saw two more fellows come along with chairs. The boys dropped the two chairs and ran in the direction of the freight train when he yelled at them. Mr. Obee stated, Mr. Obee identified two of the chairs in the court-room as his.

Mrs. Thos. Smith, Aurora, testified that a wicker chair was also taken from her verandah early last Tuesday morning.

Constable F. Dunham, Aurora, testified that when he arrived at the railway track the freight train was just pulling out and in an empty box-car he saw three deck chairs and the wicker chair but there were no men in the car. Accompanied by County Constable Fleury, he came to Newmarket and got Constable Sloss and went to the railway station, where the freight train was just pulling out. Constable Dunham stated. The chairs were not in the car but in it they found the five Toronto youths, the constable said.

Constable Fleury testified that one of the youths started to run along the side of the train and that Constable Sloss fired a shot in the air. Later the youth was caught. One youth told them where they had put the chairs off the train on the grass near Newmarket.

One youth said that they got on the freight train at Toronto at 1:30 and that they intended to go to Sudbury, but that none of the five got off the train at Aurora, although they heard some boys running alongside the train at Aurora and they had flashlights.

"We moved into another box car at Newmarket, as ours smelled of fish, in the car we saw the chairs, and thinking they might have been stolen, we threw the chairs off the train," he said.

The magistrate told the five youths that he would give them the benefit of the doubt and dismiss the charge.

Dorothy M. Willis, Toronto, attempting to pass, $5, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

Shirley G. Cain, Newmarket, speeding, remanded for sentence, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

Samuel Handle, Toronto, bad brakes, $10 and costs, charge laid by Constable J. Jardine.

Walter H. Pooler, Toronto, entering stop street, $1 and costs, charge laid by Constable K. Mount, Newmarket.

A charge of not paying wages laid against James Smith, Queensville, by Allan Jackson was settled by Mr. Smith, who paid the $60 owing and also the court costs.

The charge of keeping liquor for sale laid against Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cutting, Newmarket, was withdrawn on the request of Crown Attorney Mathews, who stated he didn't believe there was sufficient evidence for a conviction on the selling charge, although the acts of the two accused were suspicious and that the constable was justified in laying the charge. Campbell Lane, Richmond Hill, was defence counsel.

The magistrate ordered that a warrant be issued for Harold Murphy, A. E. Smith, H. J. Little, and G. E. Dunn, all of Chesterville, each charged with having illegal possession of liquor in Aurora, if they do not appear in court next week.

After laying a charge of assault against John Dickinson, Toronto, Ernest Griffith, Jackson's Point, asked that the charge be withdrawn and he was ordered to pay the court costs.

Griffith, proprietor of a dance hall at Jackson's Point, stated that he saw Dickinson standing with a glass in his hand and that he knocked the glass out of his hand and threw it out on the street, as he thought that Dickinson was one of the men who had been causing a disturbance around there but that later he found out Dickinson was not one of the men.

Keswick

Rev. C. E. Fockler, for his sermon at the United church on Sunday morning, took for his text Matt. 6:27, "Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?" From this most familiar verse he presented many new and worth-while thoughts, stating very clearly that while man is helpless to add to his bodily growth, yet there are no limitations to his spiritual growth, for with God all things are possible, and it is only that spiritual growth that counts with God. The choir sang a special number. There was no evening service, as Mr. Fockler and the choir assisted Egypt United church in their anniversary celebration.

Commencing Sunday, July 2, the church services and Sunday-school will be held on daylight time. Everyone is asked to tell their neighbors so that there will not be any confusion. Next Sunday morning Rev. F. A. Lawson of Toronto will be guest preacher.

On Sunday, July 9, at the morning service there will be a reception of any new members, a baptismal service for children and a celebration of holy communion.

The annual bazaar will be held under the auspices of the W. A. of the United church on the grounds of the church on Wednesday afternoon and evening, July 26, commencing early in the afternoon with a sale of handwork, of both useful and fancy articles, quilts, aprons, novelties and candies, with a fish pond for the children, followed by a supper at the regular hours and concluding with a well-planned evening program. The ladies are not sparing any effort to make this much anticipated event "bigger and better" than ever. Anyone desiring more information may secure the same from the president of the W. A., Mrs. D. McGenerty, or from the convener of the supper arrangements, Miss Eva Gilroy.

The June meeting of the Keswick Women's Christian Temperance Union was held on the afternoon of June 22 at the home of Mrs. Erwin Winch.

Mrs. Ernest Morton, the president, presided. The meeting was opened by singing the hymn "Am I a soldier of the Cross?" Mrs. Washington Winch led in prayer.

It was decided to purchase anti-narcotic literature for distribution.

Mrs. Perry Winch gave the report from the county convention of York and Peel counties, which was held on May 30 at Willard hall, Toronto. She said that the noonday prayer time, (used by members of the W.C.T.U. to pray for temperance), was stressed at the convention.

Mrs. McGenerty told how beautifully Mrs. Perry Winch conducted the memorial service at the convention, for the two members of the county W.C.T.U. who had died during the year.

Miss Lillian Holborne of Sutton West sang a beautiful memorial hymn during the memorial service. Later she sang a spring song.

Two new members, Mrs. Washington Winch and Miss Winnie Willoughby, were received at the Keswick meeting, at the previous meeting. Mrs. Ethel Morton was received as a new member.

Mrs. Erwin Winch served a delicious lunch. A vote of thanks was given to her for her hospitality.

PEPPER AND SALT
BY "PEP"

The fair ground has rounded into shape after getting a good dose of sulphur and molasses the past week. The track is lightning fast. Some of the classy cyclists in the Dominion Day races took a feeler of the stretch Tuesday.

The feminine version of how softball should be played will be worth a gander. This Simpson squad is first-class material and both teams rate high in Toronto's softball "four hundred."

The diamond is a fair one. However, if the girls have distance in their bats, some of the row-skies are likely to do some damage in the crowd.

There is always a surplus of priceless English thrown around by the managers and various nides-de-camp at the softball fixtures. These diamond arguments aren't prepared in advance and you really get some "slanguage in the rough."

It's all for the good cause of "box-office." The fans enjoy short-order arguments. It's only the 20-minute sales talks that make them.

There's a switch in your softball dates. Aurora comes here as scheduled tonight, Friday night, Newmarket "takes a pull" to King City. The game next Tuesday brings Richmond Hill to town in place of King.

If Niles is available he will pitch tonight, if not, Glover will take over the mound duties.

wagon in return for ironing off three wagons, and then he would trade the wagons for grain.

"He quit the wagon business and built a saw-mill north of Queensville. East Gwillimbury was covered with pine. I was born in Queensville. Later on, he moved to the fifth concession of East Gwillimbury. He teamed the lumber from his mill to Holland Landing and shipped it.

"Holland Landing was bigger than Newmarket then, and more business was done there.

"In 1874, when I was 14, my father came to Newmarket and built a wood factory on the north side of Huron St., where the Dixon Pencil Co. now is, and a saw-mill on the flats south of Huron St., near the radial right-of-way.

"We had a dam near the saw-mill. The flats were not large enough to pile up the logs, which we drew in in the winter on sleighs, and so we piled the logs up on the banks of the river (Bogartown creek), to Strigley St., and floated them down as they were needed. There was a lot more water in the river in those days."

Wm. Cane was a business genius. He started in Newmarket manufacturing sashes, doors and all sorts of building materials. Year by year he added new products, churns, wheelbarrows, tubs, pails, washboards, clothespins.

"Sykes & Elvidge's foundry was on the east side of the river, north of Huron, and used to supply the saw-mills with steam-engines," Mr. Cane said. "The country was full of saw-mills. Wm. Cane bought out Sykes. After a couple of years the foundry was burned down, and was never rebuilt. My father built a tannery for Parks & Peckham. That too was burned down after a number of years."

In those days the farmers were clearing the land of the timber. It was a nuisance to them.

"In the winter-time there were three sets of tracks up the town-line, made by the sleighs bringing in the timber," recalled Mr. Cane. "There would be as many as 200 loads in a day. We got a lot of timber just for handling it, trimming it up and taking it away. Lumber that was then worth about $9 a thousand is now worth $40. Today you can hardly get virgin timber anywhere."

Mr. Cane also recalled the busy scene when grain crops were harvested and the farmers began to bring their crops to town.

"Farmers didn't feed their grain like they do today," said Mr. Cane. "The town was alive with teams. There were four or five buyers at the station, and the grain was loaded on the cars. There were two or three grain-mills too that bought grain. Farmers came from all directions, but mostly from the north and east. We had a wonderful grain market here."

"The men in the factory worked from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. for 90 cents a day, and their firewood from the mill, for the cost of hauling," Mr. Cane recalled. "Living, of course, was much cheaper. Salt pork was nine cents and was used a great deal. Good beef was only ten cents."

Mr. Cane's brother, the late H. S. Cane, became, like his father, mayor of Newmarket, and a son of H. S. Cane, W. H. S. Cane, present high sheriff of York county, also served as mayor of Newmarket.

William Cane's wife was Catherine Belfry, born north of Queensville. Her father had come from Montreal and never learned to speak English.

Mr. Eugene Cane is the only surviving member of a family of 12 children. He recalls how when the family moved to the fifth of East Gwillimbury and there was no school there, his father engaged a private teacher and turned one room of his house into a school for his own family. Later he persuaded his fellow settlers to join in building a school.

A Baby went to Town
 There is an amusing story told of Mr. Eugene Cane's childhood, and Mr. Cane himself does not deny its truth.

When he was three years old, and the family was living in Queensville, his father was going to Newmarket by horse and buggy. He had been coaxing his father to take him with him, but without success. His mother carried him out to the buggy, in night-gown, and placed him in the buggy for a moment.

While no one was looking, he crawled under the seat, and his father came out and drove away to Newmarket. They got to Newmarket, the baby still under the seat. Mr. Cane, Sr., drove into the yard of the Belford Hotel, where the Wesley Block now is. He got out of the buggy, and was talking to a friend. Meanwhile, the infant under the seat, in his night-gown, thought he would take a peek out.

The friend noticed the curtain move and said to Mr. Cane: "What have you under the seat?"

NEWMARKET

PLAY TWO EXTRA INNINGS, WIN 6-5

The smartest game of softball that Newmarket's girls' team, organized and managed by Alex. Webster, has yet engaged in, took place at Thornhill on Friday evening.

Playing was practically airtight on both sides. Marjorie McCannan pitched her best game yet for Newmarket. Newmarket won 6-5.

In the first inning Newmarket had three on bases and never scored a run. Thornhill was also blanked. In the second inning, Newmarket got two on, and again didn't score. The suburban girls didn't do anything either.

In the third Newmarket managed to eke out one run, and held that advantage through the fourth. In the fifth Newmarket got two and Thornhill got three to tie it up.

In the sixth Newmarket got two and blanked Thornhill, to leave the score 5-3. Thornhill tied it up in the seventh.

Extra innings were necessary to decide the game. The eighth was scoreless, but Newmarket got one in the first half of the ninth. A Thornhill girl hit a home-run in the second half, but didn't touch third bag by three feet. The bag was not tied down and was out of place. Newmarket threw the ball to third and the base umpire called the runner out.

Newmarket: Vera Beckett 2b; Moss Doan 1b; Lucy Andrews c; Marjorie McCannan p; Mary Osborne 3b; Viola Rutledge ss; Mary Raymond lf; Helen Robinson rf; Lois Manning cf; Eileen Burch replaced Helen Robinson in the sixth, and Ruby Chant replaced Mary Raymond.

Umpire: Delbert Gibney.

There was young "Gene." What happened then, the villain of this incident was asked.

"Father took me out and gave me to Mrs. Belsford to be cleaned up," said Mr. Cane. "Then he took me to McMaster's to get me some clothes."

"In the meantime, mother had sent a horseback rider to Newmarket with the news that I was lost," said Mr. Cane. "Queensville school had been let out, and the people were all hunting through the swamps behind Queensville for me. Father sent the horseback rider back with the information that I was in Newmarket."

"That was my first trip to Newmarket. When we got back to Queensville that night, the house was crowded with people to see the baby boy. The next day there was a picnic, and everybody was teasing me about the visit to Newmarket. I crawled under an old sleigh that was being pulled around with a sap-barrel full of water and got my new clothes all covered with mud."

Mr. Cane was interested in politics all his life. He started when he was 18, campaigning for Dr. Widdifield. He recalled the gerrymander which gave Sir William Mulock his first nomination. Dr. Widdifield was afraid of the new riding, which left out of North York, Mr. Cane said, Liberal Newmarket and Whitelaw, and included Conservative Bradford and West Gwillimbury.

In the course of the years, Mr. Cane campaigned with Sir William Mulock, Sir Allen Aylesworth and Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King.

Mr. Cane first married Minnie Kavanagh, and had five children. Two daughters live in Toronto, Mrs. W. F. Beck and Mrs. George A. Beck. A son, LeRoy, lives in Los Angeles. Another son, Vern, died some years ago, and one daughter died in infancy.

Mr. Cane was married again, to Mrs. Myrtle Rolland Rice of Aurora.

COUPLE WILL LIVE IN NEWMARKET

At a quiet but attractive ceremony, Georgina Hartman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hartman, Temperance St., Aurora, married Norman Darrach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Darrach, Newmarket, at the Presbyterian church, Newmarket, on Saturday afternoon. Rev. Dr. D. McIntyre officiated.

The bride was gowned in pale pink, trimmed in white crepe, with white coat and accessories. Miss Nellie Marge, the bridesmaid, wore pale green, trimmed with white.

Mr. William Wilson, Newmarket, was groomsmen.

Friends and relatives of the couple gathered at the home of the bride for a supper following the ceremony. The rooms were decorated with pinks and sweet william.

After a short honeymoon trip, they will live in Newmarket.

SHOWER HELD FOR MISS DORIS BAIN

A towel shower was held on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. M. Proctor, in honor of Miss Doris Bain, R. N. Ladies of the Rebekah lodge attended.

NEWMARKET GIRLS GO DOWN FIGHTING

Newmarket girls lost out at softball to an experienced team at Maple last evening, but put up a real fight, as indicated by the score, 11-9.

The Maple team have been playing for some years, and the first-year Newmarket crowd found them just a little bit too tough. There was a good crowd, and they gave the Newmarket girls a great hand.

Newmarket was unable to score in the first inning, and Maple started with one run. In the second, Lois Manning scored, and Maple came back with two. There were no runs in the third. Dorothy Watson got home in the fourth, but Maple replied with three.

The Newmarket girls opened up in the fifth, Vera Beckett, Moss Doan, Dorothy Watson, Lois Manning, Lucy Andrews, all scoring. That left the count 7-6 for Newmarket, till Maple added two, and then three more in the seventh, making it 11-7.

Hopes were high when Newmarket had two runs in the seventh and Vera Beckett and Eileen Burch on second and third. Moss Doan struck out, ending the game.

Coach Alex. Webster put Lucy Andrews in to hit for Mary Osborne in the fifth, and Marjorie McCannan in for Viola Rutledge. Marjorie Heisey, 14, playing her first game, made a couple of nice catches.

In the sixth the Maple centre fielder was knocked out cold in a collision with Dorothy Watson, but came back and finished the game.

Newmarket: Vera Beckett, 2b; Moss Doan 1b; Dorothy Watson, c; Lois Manning, cf; Mary Osborne, 3b; Lucy Andrews, 3b from fifth; Ruby Chant, p; Viola Rutledge, ss; Marjorie McCannan, lf; Eileen Burch, rf; Umpire: Carl Welch.

Unionville plays here a week from Friday.

ENGLAND'S SONS PUT DOWN DAVIS LEATHER

Sons of England took Davis Leather 21-12 at the Stuart Scott school grounds on Tuesday evening.

The Sons got away to a nice start in the first inning when Jack Brooks hit a home run with Stan Evans and Aubrey Barker on bases. Grant Colwell got another run on a hit by Del Gibney.

Davis Leather came back strong with three runs in their half, but as the game went on the tannery boys fell farther and farther behind.

For the Sons, Del Gibney played an outstanding game, accounting for four runs and doing some smart fielding, with at least two "impossible" catches to his credit. Charlie Evans chalked up four runs.

For Davis Leather, Carl Turan turned in a topnotch game, bringing home the bacon three times. Jack Drury accounted for two runs. Turan as catcher was a stand-out. Drury and Bill Townsley did some smart work in the infield.

Sons of England: Fred Evans, cf; Stanley Evans, ss; Aubrey Barker, p; Jack Brooks, 3b; Grant Colwell, lf; Delbert Gibney, rf; Ted Williamson, 2b; Walt Germain, 1b; Charlie Evans, c; Manager, Walt Germain.

EDITORIAL

With the announcement of the appointment of Reeve J. A. Knowles to the post of assistant probation officer there comes to Aurora citizens the necessity of finding a new reeve.

The post of reeve is an important one — bearing the twin responsibility of representing voters in both town and county councils. It should be filled by a man with knowledge of town affairs and of municipal affairs in general — a man with character and strength enough to present the views of Aurora voters to other such representatives in the county council.

Councillor C. E. Sparks has signified his willingness to stand for the reeveship. Added to his experience in Aurora council, he has a deep interest, through his business, in the welfare of Aurora citizens. In addition he has the wider experience gained as a representative of Wentworth. In his election to council in 1937, he was given a total of 688 votes — a testimonial to his standing in the community.

Charles A. Malloy, former deputy-reeve, might also be persuaded to run. He has served Aurora on both town and county councils, and is well aware of the problems faced by both bodies. His current popularity is attested to by the presidency of bowling and hockey clubs.

There should also be a candidate from the ranks of the self-styled group of five, composed of Deputy-Reeve L. K. Farr, Councillors John Stuart, A. J. Wilson, Dr. E. J. Henderson and Ross Linton.

Surely one of this group, with the reeveship as an inducement, will not miss this chance to test public opinion of the group of five's methods of handling Aurora's affairs.

Members of the group of five showed definite reluctance to face public opinion, when challenged to do so by Councillor C. E. Sparks after the resignation of Ex-Mayor George Baldwin. The challenge was repeated in the press and by those outside of council. It was not accepted.

But perhaps the public has forgotten. Perhaps time's healing wings have given the actions of the group of five some appearance of fairness and justice.

Now would be a good time to find out. Any member of the group of five would be welcomed as a candidate, for this purpose.

Reeve J. A. Knowles Receives New Office

HAS BEEN MEMBER OF AURORA COUNCIL FOR 15 YEARS

With 36 votes cast in his favor, J. A. Knowles received the county council's approval necessary for his appointment as assistant probation officer.

The appointment will end a lengthy career in county council work. Mr. Knowles first came to Aurora's council in 1924, became deputy-reeve in 1930 and reeve in 1933. He has been reeve ever since.

Mr. Knowles is at present a member of the by-laws committee and legislative committee of county council and secretary of the agricultural committee. He was appointed commissioner in 1937 and has been on every committee of county council. He has been, also, the county's representative on the Royal Winter Fair board and the C. N. E. board, and was on the old age pension board for two years.

He has twice been acting-mayor of Aurora, both times during the current year, pinch-hitting first for Ex-Mayor Dr. C. R. Boulding, and later for Ex-Mayor George Baldwin.

In the contest for assistant probation officer Mr. Knowles ran against 12 other candidates. On the first ballot he received 23 votes. His nearest competitor,

MAGISTRATE DOUBTS THERE IS EVIDENCE TO COMMIT DENTIST ON NOVEL CHARGE

Dr. G. A. C. Guntton, Aurora and Schomberg dentist, who told police he was held up, robbed of $20 and beaten by two unknown men in King township, west of Aurora, on May 12, elected trial by jury through his counsel, C. D. Stewart, Barrie, in Newmarket police court on Tuesday.

Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe listened to the crown evidence and expressed doubt that there was any evidence to justify him committing Dr. Guntton for trial. No defence evidence was given. Dr. Guntton will not have an opportunity to tell his story unless he is committed for trial.

"The only point you have is that the Mulheads think Dr. Guntton knew them, and Dr. Guntton says that he did not," the magistrate told N. L. Mathews, K.C., for the crown.

Dr. Guntton is charged with giving false information, a charge not to be found in the criminal code, Mr. Mathews told the magistrate. Authority for laying such a charge is to be found in the English criminal case law on which the Canadian code is based.

Mr. Stewart told the court that if Dr. Guntton should be found guilty of a criminal offence, however trivial, he would automatically lose his right to practise dentistry. Peter Mulhead told the court that he and his son, Charles, had stopped Dr. Guntton's car while he was on his way to see Mulhead's daughter.

Mr. Stewart objected that this was a surmise and not evidence, and the magistrate ruled that Mr. Mulhead could not say where Dr. Guntton was going.

Constable Aubrey Fleury testified that Dr. Guntton said that he was on his way to a dental convention in Orillia, and that he had checked this up and found that there was such a convention being held.

One of the Mulheads said that he had spoken to Dr. Guntton, but the other could not remember any words being exchanged. The Mulheads denied that they had taken $20 from Dr. Guntton.

Sutton Gets 7-3 Verdict From Aurora Ball Team

LOCALS UNABLE TO TAKE SCORING BREAKS UNTIL LAST INNING

In the finest exhibition of softball seen in the town park this season, Sutton took a 7-3 win from the Aurora club on Tuesday night.

Sutton faltered in the second inning, helped by an over-throw, in the eighth, when flies caught the Aurora centerfielder out of position on two occasions and brought in four runs; and in the ninth, with a single run.

Aurora's scoring was confined exclusively to three runs in the ninth inning, brought in on a lusty two-base hit by Shore, with the bases loaded.

Failure to hit in the pinches cost Aurora the game. Runners were left on second and third bases in the fourth, on first and second in the fifth and on second and third bases in the sixth. Milroy, the Sutton pitcher, showed plenty of steadiness in coming out of the tough spots, and had splendid support in both infield and outfield.

Shore pitched fine ball for the Aurora club and batted out the only scoring hit of the game, but the rest of the team, with a few exceptions, could stand a little batting

Not Fit to Print
A school girl was required to write an essay of 250 words about a motor-car. She submitted the following:
"My uncle bought a motor-car.
He was driving in the country when it broke down. I guess this is about 25 words. The other 225 are what my uncle said when he was walking back to town but they are not fit for publication."

VANDORF NAME THEIR FIRST SCHOOL AND TEACHER

There was a splendid attendance at the Women's Institute meeting which met at the home of Mrs. H. Oliver on Wednesday of last week. As the president was unable to be present, Mrs. Hennessey, first vice-president, occupied the chair. The meeting was conducted in the usual manner, and after the business of the meeting was disposed of, the roll call was given. "Where did you first attend school and who was your first teacher?" This was very interesting and some of the members were Vandorf students.

Mrs. Gordon McClure of Pine Orchard branch was unable to be present, but sent an excellent report of the Ontario Education Association convention held in Toronto during Easter holidays.

Mrs. Ralph Willis read the report, which brought forth some interesting discussion. The meeting closed by singing the national anthem. Being too nice a day to stay inside, the hostesses served refreshments on the veranda.

The new programs are now ready and anyone who has not received one may obtain it from the secretary, Mrs. Wright. All ladies are welcome to attend the meetings.

This community was saddened on Tuesday morning to learn of the sudden death of a neighbor, Mr. Hudyma. He was able to be around on Monday and attended to some business, but shortly after midnight was taken with another bad attack from which he did not rally. The community extends deepest sympathy to Mrs. Hudyma and her daughter, Fanny.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon, at his late residence, at 2 p.m., and at Wesley church at 2.30. Interment will be in Aurora cemetery.

Miss Ruth Willis spent Sunday with her parents.

Miss Anne Willis has returned to Toronto after two weeks' holidays.

Friends are sorry that Mr. Ed. Madill is not so well.

Messrs. Earl and Murray Davis, and Miss Muriel Davis, and Mrs. N. Bostwick of Midland spent Sunday with Mrs. C. Bostwick and family and attended the Aurora decoration service.
